Discovering your drive

Starter

1. Log on to Unifrog, go to the Subjects library and find the subject you're interested in studying at university.
2. Read through the 'Story', 'In a nutshell', and 'Explore' sections and note down:
 - a) What excites you about what you've read?
 - b) What stands out to you the most about this subject?
 - c) How do you think studying this subject will prepare you for what you want to do in the future?
3. Compare your ideas with the person next to you.

Instructions

On the next slides are questions that will help you to formulate the first your personal statement on Unifrog.

Work independently to answer the questions in as much detail as possible.

Question 1

Give a personal anecdote about why you are interested in your chosen subject / what sparked your interest in that subject.

Question 2

Describe a time / experience when you have shown real enthusiasm for your subject.

Question 3

What do you do already and what else could you do to demonstrate interest in your subject?

Reflection

- Reflect on your responses – is there anything else you could add?
- Write down 3 targets for yourself on what you can do to showcase passion for your subject and ultimately make your university application even stronger.

Next steps

Write your first draft of your personal statement on Unifrog. There are hints and tips to help you write each section, and you can use the Subjects library for ideas specific to the subject that you want to apply for.

Remember:

- Make it specific to your chosen course
- Show off how amazing you are
- Get someone to read it over to give you ideas and feedback
